

Natixis Investment Managers Launches Natixis Gateway Quality Income ETF (GQI)

- Gateway Investment Advisers, LLC has exclusively focused on options-based strategies to manage risk and generate cash flow since 1977; the GQI portfolio management team has more than 120 cumulative years of industry experience
- GQI combines a diversified portfolio of high-quality U.S. equity securities constructed using a proprietary factor-based approach with the characteristics of an actively managed index-option selling overlay program
- GQI is designed to generate a robust, consistent stream of monthly income while providing broad equity market exposure to stocks exhibiting factors such as stable earnings, strong return-on-equity and assets, cash flow generation, and strong balance sheets
- GQI's net expense ratio is only 34 bps (gross expense ratio is 308 bps¹), making it one of the most competitively priced ETFs in this space

BOSTON and CINCINNATI, December 13, 2023 – Natixis Investment Managers (Natixis IM) and Gateway Investment Advisers, LLC (Gateway), a pioneer in options-based investment strategies, today launched the Natixis Gateway Quality Income ETF (GQI). This actively managed, income-oriented equity ETF seeks to deliver current income while maintaining prospects for capital appreciation by combining a factor-based, quality-focused equity portfolio with the characteristics of an index-option selling overlay program.

“Gateway’s goal since 1977 has been helping clients reduce the risks of stock market investing through actively managed options-based equity strategies, writing call options to generate market volatility-driven cash flow,” said Michael T. Buckius, CFA®, President, CEO and CIO of Gateway, and co-portfolio manager of GQI. “With the launch of GQI, Gateway’s first ETF, we are thrilled to bring our team’s decades of experience to help the many investors today who seek consistent income but also wish to remain invested in the stock market.”

Gateway uses a multifactor quantitative model to construct and manage GQI’s stock portfolio. The model evaluates US-exchange-traded equities and seeks to maximize exposure to quality characteristics while considering issuer and sector exposures, among other constraints and considerations. The equity portfolio generally consists of approximately 75-150 securities, and can include U.S. exchange-listed common stocks, preferred stocks, American Depository Receipts, and investment companies (including ETFs).

The features of an actively managed options overlay program are built into the GQI strategy and are designed to generate consistent monthly income for investors. Replicating the characteristics of a laddered portfolio of one-month, near-the-money S&P 500® Index call options sold on a rolling weekly basis, the options overlay is implemented on 50 percent of GQI’s equity portfolio to balance capital appreciation with income.

“GQI stands out from the crowd for many reasons, key among them is Gateway’s multi-decade experience managing options writing strategies,” said David Giunta, CEO of Natixis Investment Managers in the U.S. “In partnership with Gateway, we are excited to offer an ETF that checks so many boxes for investors in today’s uncertain times.”

Day-to-day management of GQI is the responsibility of Gateway's Daniel M. Ashcraft, Vice President and Portfolio Manager; Michael T. Buckius, CEO, CIO, President and Portfolio Manager; Kenneth H. Toft, Senior Vice President and Portfolio Manager; and Mitchell J. Trotta, Portfolio Manager. Together, the team averages 17 years of tenure with Gateway. GQI's primary listing venue is the New York Stock Exchange (NYSE). In celebration of its historic ETF launch, the Gateway leadership team will ring the NYSE's Closing Bell on December 28, 2023.

About Gateway Investment Advisers

Investment Strategy Risks

Exchange-Traded Funds (ETFs) trade like stocks, are subject to investment risk, and will fluctuate in market value. Unlike mutual funds, ETF shares are not individually redeemable directly with GQI and are bought and sold on the secondary market at market price, which may be higher or lower than the ETF's net asset value (NAV). Transactions in shares of ETFs will result in brokerage commissions, which will reduce returns.

Unlike typical exchange-traded funds, there are no indexes that the GQI attempts to track or replicate. Thus, the ability of GQI to achieve its objectives will depend on the effectiveness of the portfolio manager. There is no assurance that the investment process will consistently lead to successful investing.

Investments in Equity-Linked Notes (ELNs) are subject to liquidity risk, which means there may not be an active market for ELNs which would prevent them from being sold at a fair price. Since ELNs are in note form, they are subject to certain debt securities risks, such as credit or counterparty risk. Should the prices of the underlying instruments move in an unexpected manner, GQI may not achieve the anticipated benefits of an investment in an ELN, and may realize losses, which could be significant and could include GQI's entire principal investment.

Options may be used for hedging purposes, but also entail risks related to liquidity, market conditions and credit that may increase volatility. The value of GQI's positions in options may fluctuate in response to changes in the value of the underlying asset. Selling call options may limit returns in a rising market.

Equity securities are volatile and can decline significantly in response to broad market and economic conditions.

GQI is new with a limited operating history.
